Notable Press

On Outsider, Outlier:

“...a very mature record from a young artist with very strong ideas who does not hold back anything.”

— Franpi Barriaux, *Citizen Jazz

“...an astonishing piece of multi-layered music.”

— JL, *Turn Up the Volume

On Hannah Marks:

“I was struck by how musical her approach to playing was. She had been doing tons of listening homework, and it was really obvious when you'd hear her play. It was also clear that she was someone that had a vision of what she wanted to do professionally and was willing to do everything necessary to make it happen. For most students, that means focusing on practicing, but, in Hannah's case, it meant diving head first into the business side of things as well. She formed bands and wrote music for those specific groups, created names for the bands, rehearsed and recorded the projects, and booked release tours around the groups that she was putting together. She is someone that isn't afraid of doing all the hard work to make things happen.”

— Walter Smith III, *Jersey Jazz Magazine
